NEWS FROM TOWER HAMLETS COUNCIL AND YOUR COMMUNITY

HELPING FAMILIES BUILD BETTER LIVES

More than 1,100 helped as scheme completes successful first year

BY SHALINA HUSSAIN

A TRAILBLAZING council scheme, which has turned around the lives of hundreds of local families, celebrated its first anniversary this week.

The Troubled Families scheme, which has helped 1,120 families in Tower Hamlets overcome difficulties, completed its first year on July 2.

The national strategy was introduced by the government to reduce anti-social behaviour and crime, to encourage families back into work and improve school attendance.

The council launched its local initiative at a high-profile conference last year to share best practice with all agencies working with families.

As a result, it has achieved a 100 per cent success rate against tough government targets.

The programme aims to help families, described by the government as being among the hardest to reach, who face multiple problems including school truancy, involvement with crime and adults who are out of work.

The council is now working on delivering phase 2 of the programme, to work with an additional 3,980 families over a five-year period.

Mayor John Biggs said: "The Troubled Families programme has made a real difference to those who are the most vulnerable and feel they have no one to turn to."

"Our committed staff and partners have done an amazing job to give families a better chance in life than they had before."

PE gets star treatment

BY HELEN WATSON

ROCK star Ricky Wilson went back to school this week, to take part in a children's exercise campaign.

The Kaiser Chiefs lead singer and judge on The Voice went to Marion Richardson School in Stepney to launch Change4Life's 10 Minute Shake Up campaign.

Sponsored by entertainment giant Disney, the campaign aims to encourage children to do ten-minute bursts of moderate to vigorous activity, throughout the day, every day, to meet the recommended 60 minutes of physical activity children need.

Ricky's unannounced visit was a surprise to pupils, who joined him in a special 10 Minute Shake Up routine.

The star, who is a keen runner and fitness enthusiast, has also produced an exercise video, which will be available to all London schools.

This campaign coincides with the publication of a report by the British Heart Foundation and researchers from the University of Oxford and Loughborough University, on the positive effect physical activity has on children's physical, social and emotional development.

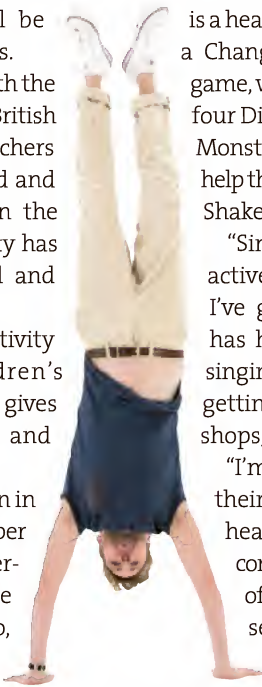

The review says physical activity and sport improves children's social skills and self-esteem, gives them increased confidence and helps them make friends.

More than a third of children in the UK are overweight, yet 79 per cent of parents with an overweight child do not recognise they are and, of those who do, almost half do not realise it is a health risk. The campaign features a Change4Life 10 Minute Shake Up game, which allows kids to join one of four Disney teams: Frozen, Toy Story, Monsters and Big Hero 6. Gamers can help their team win by doing as many Shake Ups as they can every day.

"Since taking up a much more active lifestyle, the benefits that I've gained have been endless, it has helped with everything from singing to performing and even just getting out of bed or going to the shops," Ricky said.

"I'm asking parents to encourage their children to enjoy the many health and social advantages that come with doing the right amount of physical activity. I'm excited to see how it goes and just hope I can keep up with the kids."

ALBERT Square seemed a world away when actor Shane Richie, Alfie Moon in BBC soap EastEnders, dropped in to Tower Hamlets College. Shane made a special guest appearance at an end-of-year awards ceremony on Wednesday, July 1 to hand out certificates to early years and childcare students. Students, who successfully completed their courses at the Poplar college, were unaware of the visit, which was secretly organised by early years tutor Bobbi Ehsan. The soap star posed for photos and answered questions about his career. Father-of-five Shane wished students the very best in their future careers. Ms Ehsan said: "The look of surprise on my students' faces when Shane walked in made it all worthwhile."

'Turning around' troubled families

The latest figures released by the government reveal 1,120 families were identified as being in need of intervention in Tower Hamlets – the highest figure in the 32 London boroughs.

Of these families, all have been officially 'turned around', meaning children are now regularly attending school and parents are back in work and adults and/or children are no longer involved in crime or anti-social behaviour.

The council addresses the problems by assigning a professional to work closely with the family.

The worker will then liaise with agencies who are involved with the family, accompany adults to meetings at school about truancy or poor attendance, offer support to help them understand the importance of school and education, as well as helping parents write CVs and look for work.

Louise Casey, director general of the national programme, said: "These are all families where kids are back in school and youth crime and anti-social behaviour has been cut, and an adult has now moved off benefits and into work."

For details, email nikki.bradley@towerhamlets.gov.uk

Case Study – single parent dad with four children, aged 7 to 13

THE family had been involved in a difficult divorce. The father had won custody but then had to give up his job to look after his kids. The children were having nightmares and behavioural challenges at school. The father was on benefits but they were stopped. As the father left work voluntarily, the family faced eviction.

The case was referred to the council's Family Intervention Programme (FIP) and a support worker set about helping to stabilise the family's situation and supporting the dad to find a job. The worker visited up to three times a week and liaised with partner agencies to help the family. This included reinstating benefits and accessing family therapy. They worked with the father to improve his employability skills and Housing Options identified properties where the family could be re-housed. The father found a part-time job and the family were re-housed in the borough.

The family stayed together and have a stable life, where they no longer need intervention.

Life before politics

“I worked in the City for a few years. Before that, I worked in John Cass School where I was a lab technician.”

JOHN BIGGS, SEE BELOW

Interview

East End Life talks to new Mayor of Tower Hamlets John Biggs at the Town Hall in Poplar.

Tell our readers a bit about yourself.

I am John Biggs, I am the Mayor of Tower Hamlets. I am 57 and I live in Stepney.

I've been involved in politics for quite a few years; before that I worked in the City of London for a few years. Before that, I worked in John Cass School where I was a lab technician.

I grew up in north London, went to university in Bristol and then later in London too. I was leader of the council 20 years ago, then I was elected to City Hall as a Labour member of the London Assembly for City and East constituency, which I will continue to do until next May.

Your principles, where do they come from?

I came from a non-political family. I went to university and I was planning to be an academic but that didn't quite work out because I lost interest, and maybe wasn't clever enough!

I came to live in east London and I think just living alongside and working with people in the community turned me political. There were lots of people who wanted things to happen but didn't quite know how – they didn't have the power or the muscle to change things.

I got involved in politics to help people get better control over their lives.

I started to get involved with my tenants association and I put my name forward for the council. I was elected in a by-election in 1988 in Wapping and I've been a representative of the borough ever since.

You must like it in Tower Hamlets.

I love east London. After university, I wasn't too sure what to do and the East End gave me a sense of direction and purpose that I didn't really have before.

I've never been driven by the urge to have a great career, I'm not that bothered about money, but I do love my job and the borough.

What interests you, apart from politics?

I love travelling and I particularly like cities. Outside London my favourite city in the UK is probably Manchester.

Internationally, I'm very attached to New York. I've been five or six times. It's very similar to London in many ways.

I used to like going to exhibitions but the problem with political life is that it doesn't give you much time to do other things. I would like to get a slightly better work/life balance, to which end, becoming

“I want to make this great borough even better”

MAYOR John Biggs (pictured above with business development manager Sammera Ali) unveiled a new Human Appeal charity shop at 138 Whitechapel Road on Thursday, July 2.

Human Appeal is one of the UK's fastest growing charities. It has a presence in 25 countries, spanning Asia, Africa, Europe and the Middle East. It helps in times of crisis, to deliver sustainable development programmes in the world's poorest nations.

Mayor Biggs said: “It has been a privilege to open a new branch of what is a wonderful charity.”

Visit humanappeal.org.uk

the Mayor of Tower Hamlets seems like a bad career move!

What are the major issues or problems that affect residents?

The most immediate challenge for me as mayor is restoring the reputation and sense of direction for the council. I want to get a good management team in place – we have very good people already but we've had people in interim positions for a while and I'd like some permanence.

I'd like us to return to a greater sense of politeness in the council chamber and in the business we do. There's been too much aggressive politics and the reality is that most people in our borough want to get on with each other and not play silly political games. That doesn't mean you can't have deep political differences but we can do politics in a more civilised fashion.

We need to give staff in the council a strong sense of direction – we are not a badly run council but we could be better still.

My second priority is dealing with the massive rate of change – budget pressures, change in population growth and key services. We can find new ways of dealing with these challenges of growth – it's not going to be easy but we can make a much stronger performance.

Third would be affordability. People have been squeezed out of the borough by the thousand, by the sheer unaffordability of housing. We can't stop that process absolutely, but I'd like to see more affordable housing available.

And if we can help people to secure employment and improve their household incomes, that will make life easier as well.

Our council needs to campaign vigorously for its residents and for local needs but we also need to make it clear that the rest of the capital needs to play a bigger part in providing London's housing needs. Tower Hamlets has taken an awful lot of the strain and other people should do a lot more.

I want to improve quality of life for people. Most people choose to live in Tower Hamlets, they like the quality of life here and it's a great place to live.

But we can do more to make it even more of an attractive place – tackling crime and anti-social behaviour, improving the quality of the environment, street cleaning, parks and public facilities, together with encouraging others to provide better shopping and leisure facilities.

Above all, I want to be transparent. I have campaigned for greater transparency at City Hall and I want it to happen here as well. It means that when we make decisions, we need to explain why we're making them, consult with people about what we plan to do and recognise that sometimes there might be bits that people don't like, but that by explaining and listening we can make better decisions.

I think one of the reasons that politicians have a bad name is because sometimes they exercise their power without listening.

What's your favourite building or open space in the borough?

Rather than favourites, I think what makes life interesting is variety.

I quite often walk from Stepney to Mulberry Place, or to meetings up in Bromley by Bow, or through Spitalfields, and you can take lots of little routes down back streets, to get a sense of the borough.

I like buildings which have been used for a good purpose, so I like the Idea Store in Whitechapel – it's actually a very beautiful building in lots of ways and it does what a library should do.

I quite like the old Royal London hospital building but I think the new one provides good health care for local people. I like some of our new housing estates, both private and public.

I like Victoria Park and King Edward Memorial Park and being able to look at the river. When I first came to the borough, I'd quite often go and sit in a little park next to the police station in Wapping, a little tiny place where you could watch the boats go by. It is very peaceful.

Finally, if you had a guest visiting, what would you take them to see?

I'd take them to see the river, the Tower of London. If they had all day, I'd take them on a walk that starts from the Tower, up to Bow via Whitechapel and down to the river again, to give them a feel for the texture of the borough and a sense of the place.

When I visit foreign cities, I quite often get up very early in the morning, walk around and watch the place coming to life – that's very interesting.

I got involved
to help people get better control over their lives.”

PUPILS took time out of the classroom to sell products on a market stall.

Virginia Primary School in Bethnal Green sold handmade products at Petticoat Lane Market on Thursday, June 25, with support from volunteers. The stall was part of a business, enterprise and employability programme delivered by Tower Hamlets Education Business Partnership in 16 schools across Tower Hamlets. Year 6 pupils at Virginia Primary School have been working with volunteers from Prudential, getting hands-on experience and developing their business skills. After considering their company names, logos, and unique selling points, they created tote bags, picture frames, mini flower pots and fridge magnets to sell.

Growing to be healthy

BY JESSICA ODUBAYO

GREEN-fingered staff and pupils at St Paul's Whitechapel C of E Primary School welcomed chef and restaurateur Cyrus Todiwala to the launch of a food growing project in the school garden.

Edible Playgrounds is a project led by Trees for Cities to give schools in urban areas the chance to grow food in their playgrounds.

Cyrus, whose restaurant Café Spice Namaste is in Tower Hill, will be buying produce harvested in the playgrounds to use in his restaurant.

The scheme benefits children's health and education by integrating outdoor learning into the school curriculum.

By transforming school grounds into fully functional food growing spaces, the scheme helps children to be active outside – getting them excited about growing and understanding where food comes from.

St Paul's has been growing lettuce, spinach, lal shak, chard, peas, beans, tomatoes and potatoes.

It also has a herb garden with sensory plants and a pollinator garden to attract bees, butterflies and other insects to help the plants grow.

There is also a rhubarb patch, edible flowers, willow teepees and a wormery to create compost for healthy soil.

Mr Todiwala said: "I personally believe that children will appreciate food most if they know where it comes from.

"Being in the middle of the city we do not always have the opportunity to understand what farmers and producers can, so edible playgrounds are an excellent way to expose children to nature."

Keeping cool as weather heats up

Top tips on how to cope with soaring temperatures

BY ANNA WILSON

WITH the recent bout of super-hot weather, the council's public health team has issued top tips for staying cool.

As thermometers hit 35°C, clinicians are warning residents to take care in the extreme temperatures.

Tips include:

- Keep out of the sun between 11am to 3pm.
- Wear UV sunglasses, preferably wraparound, to reduce exposure to the eyes.
- Walk in the shade.
- Apply sunscreen of at least SPF15 with UVA protection.

- Wear a hat and light scarf.
- Wear light, loose-fitting cotton clothes.
- Drink lots of cool drinks.
- Look out for others especially vulnerable groups such as the older people, young children and babies and those with serious illnesses.

■ Never leave anyone in a closed, parked vehicle, especially young children or animals.

Muslims observing Ramadan are advised to ensure they balance food and fluid intake between fasts and especially to drink enough water.

■ If you start to feel unwell, disoriented or confused, or collapse or faint, advice is to stop fasting and have a drink of water or other fluid. This is especially important for older adults, those with poorly controlled medical conditions such as low/high blood pressure, diabetes and those who are receiving dialysis treatment.

■ The Muslim Council of Britain has confirmed that breaking fast in such conditions is allowed under Islamic law. Also make sure to check on others who may be at greater risk.

Let Girls Learn aims to help girls gain the skills, knowledge and confidence to break the cycle of poverty, raise healthier families and help build their communities.

Useful information

Ending the term on a high note

News from the council's children's services team

WITH the end of term just around the corner and a long summer break to look forward to, schools are buzzing with excitement, putting the finishing touches to their summer productions and concerts.

The Tower Hamlets Arts and Music Education Service (THAMES) has delivered a fantastic programme of summer events so far.

Shoreditch Church hosted the Spitalfields Platform Summer Event: Side by Side, which brought together younger THAMES musicians with students from the Royal Academy of Music.

Pupils were also given an opportunity to perform with renowned violinist Nicola Benedetti and musicians from the London Symphony Orchestra in a piece scored by composer Michael Betteridge.

There have also been some very special guests visiting the borough's schools this term with Michelle Obama, the First Lady of the United States, topping the bill.

Mrs Obama along with former prime minister of Australia Julia Gillard used Mulberry Girls School to launch the ambitious Let Girls Learn initiative.

Let Girls Learn is a $200m scheme, jointly funded by America and the UK, to give girls in developing countries greater access to education.

When girls are educated they are more likely to earn a decent living, raise a healthy, educated family, and improve the quality of life for themselves, their families and their community.

The initiative will support community-led solutions to reduce barriers that prevent adolescent girls from going to school and staying in school.

Mrs Obama paid tribute to the pupils at Mulberry, telling them they inspire her. Some were lucky enough to get a coveted hug from her too.

At St Paul's Way Trust Sixth Form, US Ambassador to the UK Matthew Barzun gave a provocative talk on his country's role in international politics, and also discussed gun crime and the American Dream.

And Professor Brain Cox unveiled the first eco-friendly school building earlier this year, with the multi-million pound expansion of Stebon Primary School.

As part of the improvement works at the school on the Burdett Estate, a two-storey block was constructed which meets the sought-after Passivhaus standard.

Prof Cox also used the opportunity to encourage more young people to pursue careers as scientists and engineers, as schools such as Stebon allow young people to have the foundations to go on to bigger and better things.

COMEDIAN and activist Russell Brand (pictured above) dropped in for dinner at a centre working with homeless men in Whitechapel.

The dinner, at Booth House, was part of Muslim Aid's annual 'feed the fasting' campaign, which serves meals to homeless people during Ramadan, the period of fasting and abstinence observed by Muslims.

The event coincided with the 150th anniversary of the Salvation Army, which runs Booth House.

Russell said: "This is a great example of communities coming together to help each other. It shows the generosity of the Muslim community and charities like Muslim Aid."

Fresh 'n' fruity... summer's here!

BY ANNA WILSON

THE council's award-winning Food for Health shops, cafés, markets and restaurants are celebrating the arrival of summer by introducing classic English summer fruits at their stalls, shops and on their menus.

To launch the summer season of locally grown produce, businesses are encouraging everyone to share pictures and recipes of their fresh fruit and veg under the #foodforhealth hashtag over the next month.

The summer season will offer locally grown fresh fruit and veg, with strawberry season running from now until October.

and salt in the foods that they sell.

As part of this scheme, the Buywell retail project has supported market traders and convenience store owners to increase their fruit and vegetable sales by improving the quality, range and freshness.

Alkas Ali (known as Ali – pictured above) has been running Ali's Fruit and Veg shop in Roman Road for the last 15 years. His business has grown by more than 40 per cent since winning his first award and his recent upgrade to Gold has further boosted his business.

Ali said: "It is only now that the quality of fruits and vegetables are at their best and the prices at their lowest."

Esther Trenchard-Mabere, associate director of public health at the council, said: "Local shops and markets have such a wide variety of fresh fruit and veg to choose from and we encourage residents and visitors to continue shopping locally.

"Strawberries and raspberries are now in season and are a great way of getting in your five-a-day and eating healthily, as they are packed with nutrients and anti-oxidants."

Cooler clothes 'n' sharpest sounds

TEDDY boys and girls flocked to Poplar for a day, as Chrisp Street swayed to the sights and sounds of the Swing East festival.

More than 2,000 visitors enjoyed a day of 40s and 50s themed music, entertainment and dancing.

Some of the UK's finest swing bands played a cool and crazy mix of hepcat swing, jumpin' rhythm and blues and red hot boogie that kept jivers on their feet all day.

Performers included Natty Congerloo & The Flames of Rhythm, Devil's Cut Combo, The Sugar Ray Ford Trio and The Nine Gallons.

Between sets, visitors browsed for retro clothes, accessories, homewares and music, and admired vintage cars parked in the market for the day.

Food and drink was provided by street food stalls and children enjoyed face painting and music.

Chrip Street market was a fitting venue for the festival. Built in 1951, at the height of the swing movement in Britain, it was the 'living architecture' element of the Festival of Britain.

Designed by Frederick Gibbard, the market was the first pedestrianised shopping centre of its kind in the UK.

Events were organised by Poplar Harca and supported in part by the High Streets Fund and the Mayor of London.

Visitors in their 40s and 50s outfits looked perfectly at home in vintage cars

Tribute to victims of the 7/7 attacks

BY JESSICA ODUBAYO

WORKERS from the emergency services, military personnel and Paralympic and disabled athletes are among those gearing up for this year's Tunnel 2 Towers London 5K run, held to commemorate the terrorist attacks in London in 2005.

The event, on Sunday, July 19, is inspired by a run organised annually in New York to salute the sacrifice made by firefighter Stephen Siller and other emergency services workers.

Starting in Southwark Park, participants will run or walk through a closed Rotherhithe Tunnel, proceed along the riverside via Narrow Street, Limehouse, to West India Quay and on to the finish and after-party at Billingsgate Market.

There will be live music, stalls, food and drink.

London Fire Brigade is supporting the event and will offer fire safety advice.

The Fire Fighters Charity, Fire Services Athletic Association, Tower Hamlets and Southwark councils, Transport for London and Billingsgate Market, run by the City of London Corporation, are also supporting the event.

Residents are encouraged to go along and support teams and their chosen charities.

Minor disruption to travel plans will occur along the route from around 9am-1pm, due to road restrictions.

Routes affected are Rotherhithe Tunnel, Branch Road, Narrow Street (from Horseferry Road to Limehouse Causeway), Three Colt Street, Milligan Street, and Westferry Road.

Marshalls will assist the public to complete their journeys safely and quickly.

'Legal highs' can still be deadly

BY STEFAN SWIFT

THE council is reminding retailers that the selling of so-called 'legal highs' can still be illegal.

Commonly referred to as 'legal highs', these products are categorised as New Psychoactive Substances (NPS) and are designed to mimic the effects of illegal drugs.

Their effects can be very harmful, with a number of cases causing paranoia, psychosis, seizures, hospitalisation and death after ingestion.

The council's consumer and business regulations team has received reports that adults and children in the borough are purchasing these products.

The council is keen to ensure all traders are aware of their responsibilities should they be approached by any NPS distributors.

The Intoxicating Substances

(Supply) Act 1985 prohibits the sale of substances to those under the age of 18, which the seller has reason to believe may be inhaled for the purposes of intoxication.

The act was designed to prevent minors buying glue and similar intoxicating substances and applies to NPS that are inhaled.

NPS products are thought to contain ingredients that are not controlled under the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971, in the way that drugs such as heroin, cocaine and marijuana are.

Nineteen per cent of NPS tested by the Home Office in 2013/14 were found to contain illegal substances.

These would therefore be illegal to possess, supply, offer to supply and illegal for the consumer to possess.

The use of the term 'legal' creates the impression that these products are safe to use when that is far from the case.

Retailers need to ensure all products they sell are safe. Should someone suffer ill effects or death as a result of ingesting chemicals they have sold them, they can be held accountable.

If you need help due to substance abuse, the council funded Lifeline Community Drug Team offers support for affected adults.

The team also provides support to young people who want help regarding legal highs and provides training and awareness about substance misuse, including legal highs, to professionals.

Funded by the council, Lifeline welcomes self-referrals and referrals from professionals.

If you suspect someone of illegally trading NPS products in the borough, call 7364 5008 or email tradingstandards@towerhamlets.gov.uk

History

Huguenots are back on the map

BY JOHN RENNIE

LIVING where she does, there was never any escaping East End history for Fiona Atkins.

For the Town House – an elegant four-storey slice of Georgian London in the very shadow of Hawksmoor's brooding Christ Church – is at the very heart of the Spitalfields of the old Huguenot weavers.

When she bought 5 Fournier Street it was, like so many of the old weavers' houses, gently decaying – the legacy of decades of neglect and the ever-present threat of demolition.

The houses were famously saved in the 1970s by the Spitalfields Trust's campaign. Hard to believe as you gaze at these beautiful dwellings now, but the GLC wanted to pile a road straight through this part of Spitalfields.

Fiona easily trots out her predecessors as residents of No 5, almost as if they were her present-day neighbours – the weavers who lived here until 1820; the two doctors (father and son) who moved in and built the rear gallery of the house as their surgery, with the son only departing in the 1870s.

Then followed a bewildering succession of people and their businesses: a Russian translator; a furrier, before No 5 became a coffee house. And later, a low point this, it served as storage space for vegetables from Spitalfields Market, just across Commercial Street.

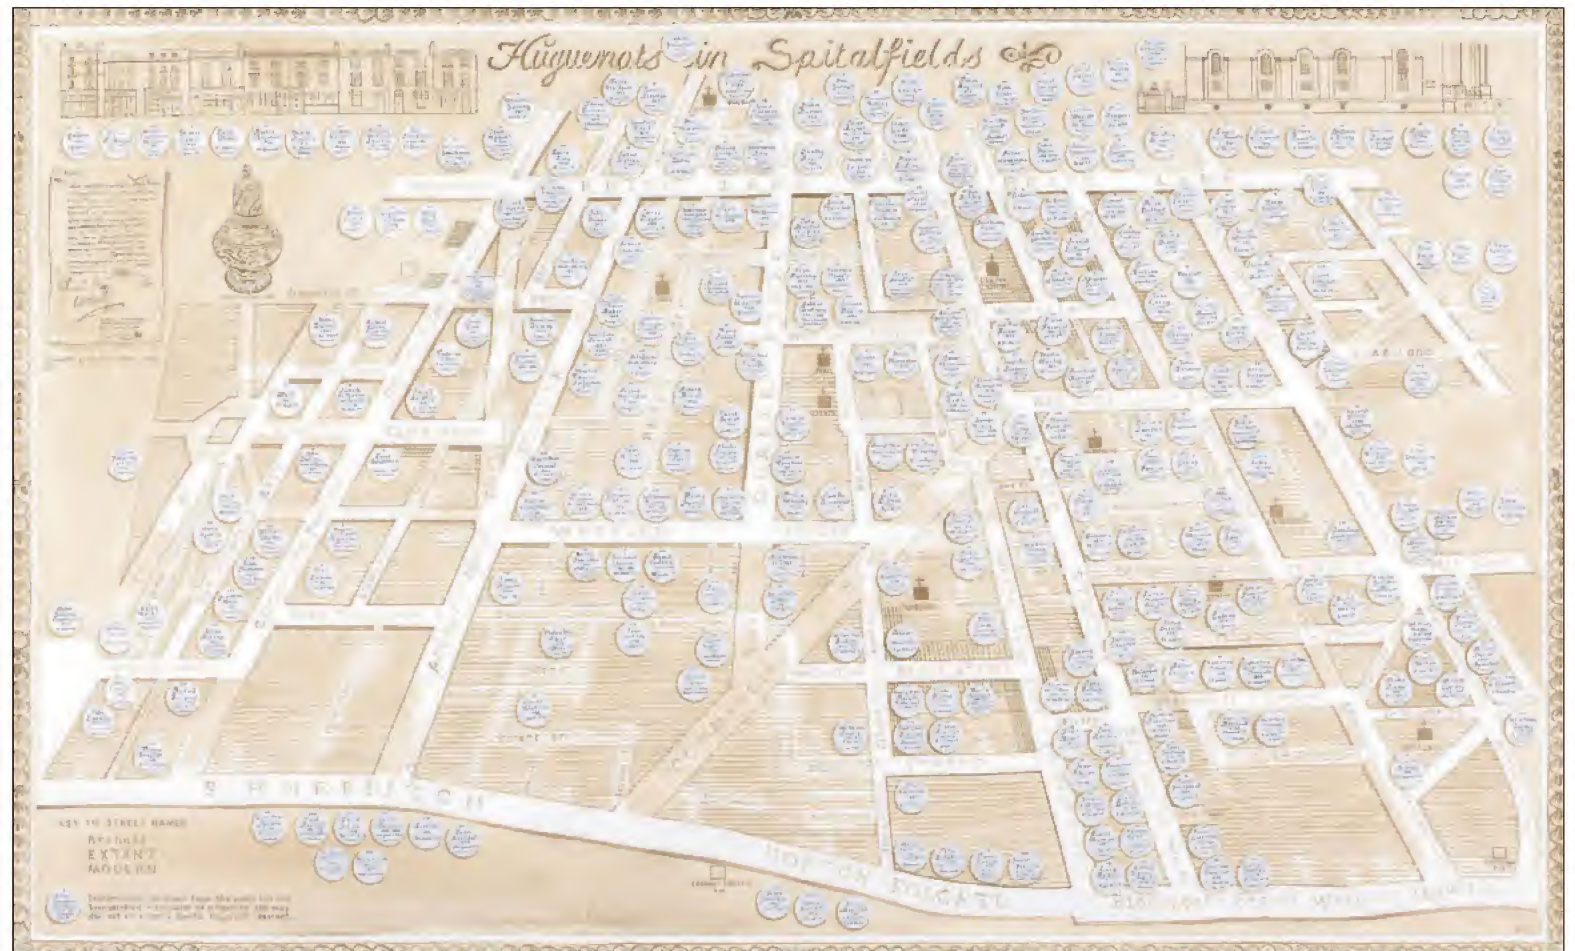

Then, at the end of the Second World War, it became the Market Café, a favoured breakfast haunt for many years for those creatures of habit, Gilbert and George. "Like Rules... only better and cheaper," claimed Gilbert.

In 2000 Fiona moved in and restored the house to what it should be... a home. It seemed an eccentric place to move to in those days – friends first pulled out an A-Z to ascertain exactly where Spitalfields was, and then shook their heads in disbelief.

Settling in this rundown neighbour to the City was considered quite mad. Vulgar though it may be to mention money, and one suspects the value of her home is the last thing on Fiona's mind, those same pals may be munching on their words now that those old ruins change hands for millions.

In typical Nouveau Spitalfields style, Fiona set about remaking her house as a Georgian Huguenot weaver would recognise – only much cleaner, comfier and warmer, of course.

Today, the Town House is a mix of home,

The Huguenot map spans 300 years guesthouse, museum and shop, selling antiques and objets d'art. Fiona had started her antiques trade in a shop in Columbia Road before moving half a mile or so to the south west.

But living with all that history got Fiona thinking. Every one of those Huguenot families had, in time-honoured East End style, come, settled, dominated and then gradually dispersed, leaving just their street names (Fournier, Fleurs de Lys, Heneage et al) and their old chapel (La Neuve Eglise in Brick Lane), later to become a Methodist chapel, then the Great Synagogue, now of course the Jamme Masjid mosque. Were they gone forever? Or could they be called back?

Thus are mad but marvellous ideas born. Like so much creative modern history, this could only have happened with the help of the very modern internet. A call went out on social media. Do you have a Huguenot name? Do you have roots in the East End?

A map was created with artist Adam Dant, and the scatterlings of the Huguenot diaspora, first in a trickle, then in a veritable flood, began pinning their names to the East End map.

Fiona takes up the story. "I have had people pinning themselves on the map from all over the place, including quite a few from Australia.

"One woman in Australia, Penny née Duboc, is descended from the Dubocs who arrived in Spitalfields c1710 and remained there for over 200 years until after the First World War."

From there they moved out to Newbury in Berkshire in the early part of the 20th century, emigrating to Australia in 1965. Along the way, her great grandfather, George Joseph Dubock, acquired a K on his name – as for many Huguenots the spelling changed over the years.

Closer to home there is also Stanley Rondeau, who still lives in the East End and who has spent many years researching his family. His interest was sparked off in 1980 when he was visiting a pal in Norfolk – the local vicar remarked on the Londoner's unusual name and asked him if he was a Huguenot.

"A what?" was Stanley's reply. It sparked an interest in genealogy and reconnected him to roots in the East End (as foreign to the Enfield-dwelling Stanley as Orleans or La Rochelle).

He now volunteers at Christ Church Spitalfields on Tuesdays and regularly visits Fiona in the shop. And Stanley discovered his Spitalfields ancestor in Jean Rondeau, master silk weaver and sexton of Christ Church from 1761-1790... and now proudly part of the map.

They are just two names among hundreds. We know the name 'Dollond' from the high street opticians, but John Dollond was a Spitalfields weaver before becoming an expert in optics and lenses, eventually founding the family firm that would become Dollond and Aitchison.

There was Peter Prelleur, one of the most important English composers of the mid-1700s, and also the organist at Christ Church.

And Samuel Gompers was scion of a Huguenot family, born in Tenter Street (a tenterground was the area used for drying the wet silk after fulling). He would emigrate to the US and become a major trade union figure in the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

You can view the map for yourself... a thing of beauty as well as assiduous research and – most important of all – teamwork, spanning the globe and 300 years.

মাইক্রোসফট, স্কাইপি, বার্কলেস এবং টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ কাউন্সিল এর যৌথ উদ্যোগে উই.ক্যান শীর্ষক এই তথ্য প্রযুক্তি বিষয়ক ইভেন্ট গত ২৩ জুন অনুষ্ঠিত হয়। কিভাবে কোড করতে হয়, নিজেদের আই-ডিয়াকে বাস্তবে রূপ দিতে হয় এবং কিভাবে শুরু করতে হয় নিজের ব্যবসা - এই সব ব্যাপারে তরুণ বয়সীরা শিখার বিস্তারিত সুযোগ পান এই ইভেন্টে।

এই ইভেন্টে যোগদানকারীদের একজন হলো ১৫ বছর বয়সের হ্যানরি এলাবি। তাঁর প্রতিক্রিয়া এমন, “কর্মশালাগুলোতে অংশ নিয়ে আমি সত্যিই খুবই কার্যকর দক্ষতা অর্জন করেছি, এতে করে বলা যায় এই ইভেন্টটা ছিলো সত্যিকার অর্থেই খুব সুফলদায়ক। ভেন্যু ছিলো চমৎকার। মাইক্রোসফট এর মতো

প্রতিষ্ঠানের লোকজনের সাথে সাক্ষাতের সুযোগ পাওয়াটাও অনেক বড় পাওয়া।

মাইক্রোসফট এর সাথে এই পার্টনারশীপের মূল লক্ষ্য হচ্ছে বারার ইয়াংদের জন্য এমন একটা অনন্য সুযোগ তৈরী করা, যাতে করে তারা তথ্য প্রযুক্তি সম্পর্কে শিখার পাশাপাশি তাদের ভবিষ্যত সম্পর্কে সিদ্ধান্ত নিতে পারে।

মেয়র অব টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্, জন বিগস বলেন, এই বারায় অসংখ্য প্রতিভাবান তরুণ

রয়েছেন। নিজেদের ডিজিটাল স্কিল বাড়ানোর এবং ভবিষ্যত কেরিয়ার সম্পর্কে চিন্তা ভাবনা করার সুযোগ পেলে তারা এই ইভেন্টে এসে।

তিনি বলেন, মাইক্রোসফট এবং স্কাইপির লোকজনের সাথে নেটওয়ার্কিং এর ফলে বারার তরুণদের জন্য টেক সেক্টরে কাজ করার সুবর্ণ সুযোগ পাওয়ার সম্ভাবনা তৈরী হলো।

মাইক্রোসফট এর ওয়ার্ল্ডওয়াইড পার্টনার মার্কেটিং ম্যানেজার, ম্যারিও বিনি বলেন,

বার্কলেস, স্কাইপি ও টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ কাউন্সিলের সাথে মিলে এমন অনুষ্ঠান আয়োজন করতে পেরে আমরা সম্মানিতবোধ করছি। আমরা যে সকল কাজ করে যাচ্ছি, তার ফলে বিপুল সংখ্যক তরুণ অনুপ্রাণিত হচ্ছে। আমরা সবাই মিলে উন্নত ভবিষ্যত গড়তে পারি এবং নতুন প্রজন্মকে তাদের মধ্যকার সম্ভাবনার সবটুকু যাতে তারা অর্জন করতে পারে, সেইভাবে তাদেরকে অনুপ্রাণিত করতে পারি।

সেকেভ হ্যাভ টায়ার সম্পর্কে বাসিন্দাদের সতর্ক করলো কাউন্সিল Residents warned of unsafe car tyres – issue 1066

সেকেভ হ্যাভ কার টায়ার ক্ষয়ের ক্ষেত্রে অধিকতর সতর্কতা অবলম্বনের জন্য টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ এর বাসিন্দাদেরকে অনুরোধ করা হয়েছে। কাউন্সিলের ট্রেডিং স্ট্যান্ডার্ডস্ টিম অনুসন্ধান চালিয়ে দেখেছে যে, বারায় অবস্থিত ব্যবসা প্রতিষ্ঠানগুলোর অধিকাংশই অনিরাপদ ব্যবহৃত টায়ার বিক্রি করে থাকে।

যুক্তরাজ্যের শীর্ষস্থানীয় গাড়ির টায়ার সেফটি সংস্থা টায়ারসেইফ এর সাথে পার্টনারশীপের

ভিত্তিতে কাউন্সিল ১৭টি ‘পার্ট ওর্ন’ টায়ার পরীক্ষা করে। কাউন্সিল এবং টায়ারসেইফ যোযনা দিয়ে ও অঘোষিতভাবে বারার টায়ারের দোকানগুলো পরিদর্শন করে।

বাসিন্দাদের সার্বিক নিরাপত্তার ক্ষেত্রে গুরুত্বপূর্ণ ভাষা মানের টায়ার বিক্রি ও সার্ভিস নিশ্চিত করতে এই অনুসন্ধান ও পরিদর্শন কার্যক্রম চালানো হয়। ১৭টি আংশিক ব্যবহৃত টায়ার পরীক্ষা করে দেখা গেছে এর ১১টিরই

নিরাপত্তাজনিত সমস্যা রয়েছে। ৬টি কার টায়ার মেরামত করা হলেও টায়ার রিপেয়ারের ক্ষেত্রে ব্রিটিশ স্ট্যান্ডার্ড বা মান অনুযায়ী তা হয়নি।

এই ৫টি টায়ার একি ডিলারের কাছ থেকে এসেছে। অন্য তিন ডিলার রিকোয়ারমেন্ট সম্পর্কে ওয়াকিবহালই নয়। পরীক্ষা করা ১৭টি টায়ারের মধ্যে মাত্র ২টি টায়ার পাওয়া গেছে, যেগুলো আবশ্যিক লিগ্যাল রিকোয়ারমেন্ট পুরোপুরি পালন করেছে।

টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটসের নতুন মেয়র জন বিগস ২ জুলাই বৃহস্পতিবার বারায় একটি নতুন চ্যারিটি শপ এবং তৈয়ব রেস্টুরেন্টের প্রতিষ্ঠাতার স্মৃতির প্রতি সম্মানার্থে একটি স্মৃতি বেঞ্চ উদ্বোধন করেন।

ইস্ট লন্ডন মসজিদের পিছনে, গ্রেট সিনাগগ এর সামনে হোয়াইটচ্যাপলের ফিল্ডগেইট স্ট্রিটে আরো অনেকগুলো মেমোরিয়াল বেঞ্চ এর কাছে মোহাম্মদ তৈয়বের সম্মানার্থে এই বেঞ্চটি স্থাপন করা হয়েছে। জীবনের শেষ দিনগুলোতে তিনি এই এলাকায় অধিকাংশ সময়

অবসর কাটাতেন।

উল্লেখ্য, মোহাম্মদ তৈয়ব ১৯৭২ সালে বিখ্যাত পাঞ্জাবি রেস্টুরেন্ট তৈয়বস্ চালু করেন, যা গোটা লন্ডনের মধ্যে জনপ্রিয় রেস্টুরেন্টগুলোর একটি হিসেবে পরিচিতি লাভ করে। গত ২০১৪ সালের ১৫ নভেম্বর তিনি শেষ নিঃশ্বাস ত্যাগ করেন। তাঁর স্মৃতির প্রতি সম্মানার্থে স্থাপিত মেমোরিয়া বেঞ্চ উদ্বোধনকালে তাঁর ছেলে আলীম তৈয়ব, সাবেক কাউন্সিলর আব্দাল উল্লাহ প্রমুখ উপস্থিত ছিলেন।

থিও’র ওপর হামলাঃ এক ব্যক্তির জেল দণ্ড

থিও বা টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ এনফোর্সমেন্ট অফিসার (টিএইচইও) হিসেবে দায়িত্বরত একজন কর্মকর্তাকে নিগূহিত করার দায়ে এক ব্যক্তিকে আদালত জেল দণ্ডে দণ্ডিত করেছে।

গত বছরের মার্চ মাসে হোয়াইটচ্যাপল এলাকার ক্যাভেল স্ট্রিটে একজন থিও’র ওপর হামলার দায়ে টেমস ম্যাজিস্ট্রেট আদালত এন্ড্রো লরেন্স বটিভিল নামের ঐ ব্যক্তিকে ২৬ সপ্তাহের জন্য জেল দণ্ডে দণ্ডিত করলেও শর্ত সাপেক্ষে তা ১৮ মাসের জন্য স্থগিত রাখেন।

মামলার বিবরণে জানা যায়, এনফোর্সমেন্ট অফিসাররা হোয়াইটচ্যাপল এলাকায় বাই-সাইকেলে নিয়মিত টহল দানের সময় দণ্ডিত বটিভিলকে মাতাল হিসেবে দেখতে পান। তার বিরুদ্ধে এন্টিসোশ্যাল বিহেভিয়ার ওর্ডার (এএসবিও) ছিলো, যার অর্থ হলো বারার সীমানার মধ্যে সে মদ্য পান করতে পারবে না। অফিসাররা তাকে তার কাছে থাকা পানীয়ের বোতল হস্তান্তর করার জন্য নির্দেশ দিলে সে খুন করার হুমকি দেয় এবং অফিসারকে ঘুষি মারার চেষ্টা করে। পুলিশ আসার আগে একাধিকবার হামলার চেষ্টা চালায় এবং এক পর্যায়ে সে অফিসারের মুখ ও বুকে ঘুষি বসিয়ে

দিতে সক্ষম হয়। তার বিরুদ্ধে হুমকীমূলক আচরণ, শারিরিকভাবে আঘাত এবং এএসবিও ভঙ্গের অভিযোগ আনা হয়। তাকে বো রোড ম্যাজিস্ট্রেট কোর্টে তোলা হলে তিনি নিজেকে নির্দোষ দাবি করেন। গত মে মাসে স্টার্টফোর্ড ম্যাজিস্ট্রেট কোর্টে মামলার শুনানিকালে সিসিটিভি ফুটেজ দেখানো হলে তিনি দোষ স্বীকার করে নেন। আদালত তাকে দোষি সাব্যস্ত করে সাপেক্ষে জেল দণ্ডে দণ্ডিত করেন।

Postcards from Aldgate East

In July 1915, a group of emigré Jewish artists came together above Gradel's Restaurant in Aldgate East to establish the Ben Uri art society. From these modest beginnings, Ben Uri has evolved into a specialist museum with a collection of more than 1,300 works. As part of its centenary celebrations, it has joined with Oxford House to develop the Postcards from Aldgate East community project. This saw residents photograph the street life, architecture and cultural landmarks of the Aldgate East neighbourhood. Alongside the exhibition there will be a short film tracing a walk around the area.

Out & About

Whitechapel opens up to the best artists in London

BY MELANIE YEA

THE Whitechapel Gallery has announced the artists for The London Open 2015.

The exhibition, which takes place every three years, is open to artists aged 26 or over who are currently living or working in London.

This year 48 artists, hailing from all over the world but now based in the capital, have been picked from a record 2,133 applicants.

Established names such as Emma Hart, Mary Ramsden and Tim Stoner, as well as emerging talent including Tim Ellis, Eva Stenram and Dominic Watson got the nod from the selection panel.

The exhibition from Wednesday, July 15 to Sunday, September 6, will feature painting, sculpture, moving image, photography, drawing, performance and installations.

Lothar Gotz's Double-take will be on show

Abstract and figurative painting as well as participatory and conceptual art have emerged as strong threads.

The show includes a brick sculpture built on site by father-daughter team bricklayer Brian Watts and artist Demelza Watts; a tense video work by Nelmarie Du Preez of a robotic arm, programmed by the artist to repeatedly stab a knife between her spread fingers; an ice-sculpture by multi-media artist Sam Curtis; and wall-paintings by Lothar Götz.

Many works included in the exhibition are available for purchase. Gallery spokesman Daniel Herrmann said: "The entries were of exceptionally high quality – testament to London's status as the art capital of the world."

Nelmarie du Preez, to stab, 2013

Admission is free and the exhibition is open Tuesday to Sunday, 11am-6pm, and Thursdays, 11am-9pm.

For a full list of the chosen artists and for more information, visit www.whitechapelgallery.org

Discover the power of poison

A NEW exhibition at the Old Truman Brewery on Brick Lane will reveal what happens when people come into contact with toxic substances.

The Power of Poison, which runs until September 6, is a family-friendly immersive exhibition with interactive components, models, multi-media displays and live animals.

The organisers are promising to take visitors on a journey filled with mystery, intrigue, fascinating tales and life-saving cures.

Visitors can also get involved in a theatre presentation in the Power of Poison Laboratory and be at the centre of solving poison crimes.

SHAKESPEAREAN comedy inhabits the world of a decayed but decadent Victorian music hall in Pell Mell's new production. Twelfth Night or What You Will sees Orsino, a maniacal master of ceremonies, desperate to regain the services of Olivia, his former leading lady, lost in a sinkhole of depression. The only one who can bring a smile back to her face is Orsino's newest recruit, the clown, Cesario. Using Shakespeare's lyric text alongside a wide range of live music, dance, burlesque and circus performance, the show takes in issues such as love, madness and identity. Performances start at 7.30pm from Tuesday, July 21, to Saturday, August 8 (excluding Mondays and July 31 to August 1) at The Space, Westferry Road, E14. Tickets cost £14/£10. For more information, or to book tickets, visit www.space.org.uk

News in brief

All aboard the hall

A FLOATING village hall will be officially opening its doors on the Regent's Canal at Mile End on Saturday, July 11.

The unusual, engineless narrowboat designed to carry cargo – called a Butty – will be the focal point of a summer fete.

Festivities over the weekend will include live performances, storytelling, a tug of war tournament, a cake competition and a ceilidh.

The brainchild of Alice Cade, Ian Horrocks and James Bentley, seasoned boaters who have lived on the canals and rivers for several years, the event aims to bring together boaters and land lubbers to enjoy and celebrate the waterways.

Funds are also being sought via www.crowdfunder.co.uk/the-village-butt to help keep the village hall afloat and available for the local community.

Eating out, eating in

Jump in a hot tub for cocktails and canapés

BY STARVIN' MARVIN

AL FRESCO dining takes on a new meaning this summer with the arrival of a pop-up eatery providing canapés and cocktails to diners in a hot tub.

Tickets to the eatery under the stars entitle diners to two to three hours in a hot tub, with service – food and drink – provided at an additional cost.

Munch on a small plate of one-bite Peruvian tapas (£3.50-£4.50 each), or you can pre-order tapas for two, including a selection of plates and a pair of welcoming pisco (brandy from Chile and Peru) sours for £35.

The menu also features bite-sized portions of sea bass, applewood smoked chilli pepper, red onion, tiger prawns, pink grapefruit and coriander.

Skewers from the grill include organic British rump steak marinated with pisco brandy and herbs, drizzled with lime and herb oil (£4.50); king prawn tossed with pomegranate molasses and scallion (£4.50) and halloumi and watermelon salad dressed with minted oil (£3.50).

Diners with a sweet tooth might like skewers of watermelon balls, dressed with passion fruit and orange blossom (£3.50), or strawberries dipped in Peruvian spiced dark chocolate (£3.50).

The pop-up is for adults aged 18 or over. Towels are available for hire at £4 each or diners are welcome to bring their own.

Guests are encouraged to take flip flops or suitable

Cool off and tuck in to some tasty tapas footwear for walking along the deck and take a shower before entering the tub.

Tenants offered sub-let amnesty

BY HELEN WATSON

A HOUSING association in Poplar is offering an amnesty to tenants illegally sub-letting their homes.

Until the end of August, Poplar HARCA tenants renting out their homes to others without permission can hand back the keys and end their tenancy, no questions asked.

From September, the housing association will push for maximum sentences in the courts.

Following changes to the law in 2013, those found guilty could be subject to two years in jail, finer of £50,000 and recovery, not only of the property, but also the proceeds from renting it out, and all legal costs.

Poplar HARCA's counter fraud investigator Avril Drummond said: "I'm closing in on the criminal tenants. It's outrageous – families wait longer on the housing list the people living in the property pay huge amounts without any security and neighbours often have noise, nuisance and a lot of comings and goings."

"The government estimates 98,000 tenancies are illegally sub-let across the UK. It goes against the grain not to take every one through the courts. It's a final chance to do the right thing and walk away."

Residents can give up their tenancies with no questions asked by contacting their housing officer. Anyone with information about tenancy fraud can call Avril on 0800 035 1991, email avril.drummond@poplarharca.co.uk or report it at www.poplarharca.co.uk

You will get £500 if your information helps recover a home, or you can stay anonymous and Poplar HARCA will donate the £500 to homelessness charity Shelter.

RESIDENTS and businesses in Roman Road will celebrate the summer by staging a festival on Sunday, July 12 and 19. The festival is organised by the Roman Road Resident & Business Association and the council. It is free and starts at 11am on both days. Attractions include a screen outside Gladstone Place, showing the Wimbledon men's tennis final, outdoor games, sporting activities and a party to celebrate Eid. There will also be a number of fringe events throughout the week along Roman Road. Mayor John Biggs said: "This festival is a great chance for local people to celebrate summer in this unique neighbourhood." For more details visit romanroadlondon.com

WOULD YOU LIKE TO MOVE TO ANOTHER PART OF LONDON?

Would you benefit from being nearer work or training? Do you have spare bedrooms in your home? Would you like to live closer to family or friends?

If your answer is ‘yes’ to any of these questions, and you currently live in social housing, the Mayor of London’s Housing Moves scheme may be just what you’re looking for.

Housing Moves offers Londoners living in social housing the chance to move home within the capital.

London boroughs and housing associations advertise homes available to social tenants from other parts of London on the Housing Moves website. The number of properties on offer through the scheme at any given time varies. But regular website visitors will see properties of all types and sizes across London.

Priority is given to applicants who:

- are in work or training
- currently have more bedrooms than they need
- wish to move in order to provide care for friends or relatives
- do not have enough bedrooms for their needs

People who move through the scheme become a tenant of the council or housing association that manages the property. The new landlord will give you information about the type of tenancy offered and the rent and service charges you will be expected to pay. Some of this information is also available on the Housing Moves website.

Housing Moves is open to social housing tenants with an assured or secure tenancy. You are not eligible if you are on an introductory or starter tenancy, or you are in temporary accommodation. Applicants must live in a borough that is contributing properties to the scheme. You must have had no rent arrears for at least 12 months and must not be going through possession procedures or being evicted.

Once you have registered, you application will be checked by your landlord. If your landlord is happy to approve your application, you will then be able to bid for properties through the website.

To find out more and to apply go to www.housingmoves.org

If you have any questions about the scheme, please contact your landlord. Housing Moves is very popular, so we cannot guarantee a move to everyone who applies.

The scheme is operated by the Mayor of London.

The Mayor of London also runs the Seaside & Country Homes scheme. This is a scheme to help London’s older social tenants to move to flats and bungalows in the countryside or on the coast. Visit www.housingmoves.org for more information about the scheme and to register.

London Borough of Tower Hamlets Call for Sites Information Gathering

The Council is carrying out a 'Call for Sites' information gathering exercise from: Monday 6 July 2015 to Monday 3 August 2015

The 'Call for Sites' is an opportunity to update information on development sites and inform the Council's existing evidence base on matters including housing, Gypsies and Travellers, employment and infrastructure such as schools and open space. It does not allocate land or make any decisions on use allocations. The suitability of the sites for allocation will be considered after the 'Call for Sites', as part of the preparation of the Tower Hamlets Local Plan.

The Council is particularly interested in sites that it has not considered before and welcome suggestions that meet the Call for Sites' criteria. Sites do not need to be within your ownership or control and can be in any part of the Borough, excluding the area captured by the London Legacy Development Corporation.

How to submit sites?

If you know of a site that could be put to good use in the future, you should first consider if it meets the criteria set out in the 'Call for Sites' Guidance Note. If it does we would like you to tell us about it by returning the 'Call for Sites' Submission Form.

The 'Call for Sites' Submission Form and Guidance Note are available on the Council's website, and also at the Council's Town Hall at Mulberry Place, Idea Stores and libraries.

Forms should be returned to the Council no later than 5pm on Monday 3 August 2015 through the one of the following methods:

Volleyball girls up their game in defeat

BY PETER FAULKNER

TOWER Hamlets suffered disappointment at the London Youth Games, losing in volleyball, badminton, hockey and tennis.

The volleyball girls showed how much progress they have made finishing ninth overall compared to 15th in 2014.

It meant they narrowly missed out on qualifying for the next stage of the games.

Tower Hamlets were drawn in one of the toughest groups in the round, comprising Richmond and Kingston, and had to play these two teams in their first two games.

Tower Hamlets failed to put Richmond under real pressure and lost 25-16. The Kingston match was a closer affair, with Tower Hamlets giving a good account of themselves before losing 25-20.

Their final three games proved more successful. The girls edged a close and exciting clash with Newham 26-24, then comfortably beat Lambeth 25-21 and Redbridge 25-8.

The mixed badminton team of five boys and five girls took part in the under-18 youth

The girls volleyball team narrowly missed out on qualifying competition and, having been placed in a small group of three they had to win both team matches to reach the finals.

First up were Wandsworth, who boasted three junior international players and a Surrey county player so it was going to be an extremely challenging match for Tower Hamlets.

Wandsworth took the girls singles and boys doubles while the Tower Hamlets pair, Cindy Wong and Mushfika Hussain, won the doubles followed by a win in the mixed doubles by Tower Hamlets Middlesex county player Mannah Rahman and partner Veronica Ramires, of Sir John Cass School. With the match level at 2-2, the result hinged on the boys singles, but Tower Hamlets and Middlesex under-17 No1 Ujjol Ahmed lost an agonisingly close match 21-17 giving Wandsworth a 3-2 victory.

Tower Hamlets took to the court against Haringey a little down-hearted, but, stepped it up a level to score a convincing 4-1 victory.

The highlight of the match was the 21-5 win for the boys doubles pairing of Fahim Zubayer (Stepney Green School) and Zihad Hussain (Swanlea).

In the hockey, the girls improved on last year's position finishing 18th while the boys missed out on qualification by one place after finishing 13th.

Tower Hamlets were represented by St Paul's Way and Raine's Foundation schools in the tennis.

It was a very tough competition but the commitment level shown by the players was admirable, considering the strength of the other teams.

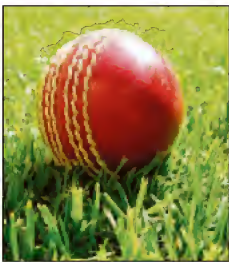

Cricket

TOWER Hamlets Cricket Club continued their fine form to top Division 3 of the Middlesex Championship League for the seventh consecutive week.

They thrashed South Harrow by eight wickets after skittling them for 38 runs. Arafat Bhuiyan, 18, from Poplar was the outstanding performer as he ripped through the South Harrow batting on his way to best ever figures of 7 for 12. His remarkable spell included two double wicket maiden overs.

Arafat was well supported by Zak who picked up the other three wickets. With rain threatening, Tower Hamlets scored 41 for the loss of two wickets to take the full ten points and consolidate their stranglehold on the division.

NEWS FROM TOWER HAMLETS COUNCIL AND YOUR COMMUNITY

Kaizen complete Italian job

BY PETER FAULKNER

EAST London's Kaizen Ryu karate club staged their own version of the Italian job – getting their hands on a whole lot of gold for Great Britain in a competition in Sardinia.

Star of the day was Ishaan Tafazzul who, along with many of his club-mates was representing the JKF Goju Kai Great Britain team at the Seiwakai Italy International Championships.

Ishaan, 9, had a trip to remember, winning two individual gold medals.

First up was the light, continuous fighting where the youngsters fought against seasoned kickboxers to bag five silver medals and a bronze.

Tyrique Porter, 12, who was the only Kaizen fighter on the trip representing his club rather than his country, claimed three of those medals by landing some fantastic head level kicks and using his long reach to full advantage.

The senior members performed two kata – kururunfa and suparinpei – where coaches Indran Tanabalan and Marie Tanabalan both got in on the medal-winning action.

The younger members also performed two kata – seuinchin and seipai – and brought the team's tally up to 12 medals in the first half of the competition.

Ishaan, Shanice Porter and Jake Moore won gold medals, Arianne Shaw took silver and Orion Chatterjee claimed a bronze.

The afternoon was dominated by kumite bouts for the kids and was very exciting.

It made the afternoon more interesting when two team members met in the finals after they had fought through the earlier round by defeating Italian kids in opening rounds.

Jake and Orion met in the final match, with Jake coming out on top with a 4-1 win.

The girls didn't disappoint when it was their turn to get in on the action.

Sabiha Amin, 7, clinched a silver medal despite fighting against boys in her division.

The Kaizen Ryu karate fighters after their trophy-winning trip

Sabiha, nicknamed 'stone-face' by her fellow squad members, is known for her no-nonsense attitude and intense approach to the art of fighting.

Speaking after the tournament, delighted squad coach

Tanabalan said: "I am so proud of what the team has achieved together.

"It is satisfying to see the self-improvements each and everyone has made, especially as for many of them this is only their first or second international competition."

A total of 19 medals from 11 competitors plus trophies for overall third place in karate and second place in kickboxing... a great achievement.

The JKF Goju Kai GB team are set to travel again to Europe later in the year to compete in the Goju Cup, in Hungary.

They have been preparing for this year's competitions by training with various WKF world champions including Eva Tuleyova-Medvedova and Junior Le Fevre, along with squad coaches Jamie Edmonds and Indran Tanabalan.
